Product and Services List

1. ElohehCare Wellness Kits
 - What: Curated monthly packages containing natural supplements (like vitamin D, omega-3, and elderberry), calming herbal teas, aromatherapy oils, and self-care items such as sleep masks and journals.
 - Purpose: Designed to promote overall well-being, boost immunity, manage stress, and support sleep hygiene. Kits are personalized based on a short health questionnaire.
2. Eloheh Virtual Clinic
 - What: A secure telehealth platform offering video consultations with licensed medical professionals, including general practitioners, therapists, and registered dietitians.
 - Purpose: Provides convenient, on-demand access to healthcare, including prescription services, mental health counseling, chronic disease management, and wellness coaching—especially for those in remote or underserved areas.
3. Eloheh Home Diagnostics
 - What: Easy-to-use, mail-in testing kits for blood sugar levels, food sensitivities, hormone imbalances, vitamin deficiencies, and more. Includes clear instructions, prepaid return labels, and digital results within 3–5 days.
 - Purpose: Empowers individuals to monitor their health privately and proactively, without needing to visit a clinic or lab.
4. Eloheh Health Tracker App

- What: A free mobile app that integrates with wearable devices and lets users log symptoms, track medications, schedule reminders, and view test results from Eloheh services.
 - Purpose: Helps users take control of their health by visualizing trends, tracking treatment progress, and storing all health-related data in one secure place.
5. Eloheh Community Wellness Programs
- What: A series of in-person and virtual educational initiatives such as free webinars, health literacy workshops, and fitness/yoga classes. Special focus is placed on underserved or marginalized communities.
 - Purpose: To promote preventive health practices, increase access to reliable information, and build community support around wellness through local partnerships and outreach.
